Dear Garth:

You may have noticed that you have been receiving some odder than usual correspondence of late... autographed letters and the like. For the last year or so, you have been the subject of a letter writing campaign entitled "66 Actual Letters From Garth Johnson". The project is over now, and I feel that it would probably be fair that you finally find out what's going on. Enclosed you will find a copy of every letter that was sent.

If you are interested in finding out who was responsible for the sullyng of your good name, I will be attending your Boxing Day Party... look for someone wearing red.

Sincerely,

The other Garth Johnson

P.S. Why not send yourself an autographed picture?
