

Professor Moira Gatens
University of Sydney - Dept. of Philosophy
Office N443, Main Quad
NSW
2006
Australia

Dear Ms. Gatens:

I thought I might as well ask an expert... What's going on anyway? Is anything about Philosophy provable? I don't know if you even really exist. And how can you be sure that I exist, or am even who I say I am? How would I know either? Every time I think about these things I get all dizzy. Or do I? Things seem... and that's about as far as I figure it goes. How do you study Philosophy without going crazy?

Questioningly,

Garth Johnson (?)

P.S. Could you please send me an autographed picture? As if that would prove anything.