Dear Tolan,

This is your final warning.... STOP HARRASSING ME! I'm fed up with the way that you browbeat and belittle me. I've tried to be a good sport, and have done my best to ignore or tolerate your constant derision, but several recent incidents have pushed me beyond my capacity to continually turn the other cheek. To whit...

1. Your constant and baffling insistence on putting an over emphasis on the "th" in my name.
2. On Tuesday last, you drank from MY beer not just once, but on several occasions.
3. Whenever you pass me in the hallway, you smirk in a malicious manner.
4. You persistently loiter outside of my bedroom.
5. Just because I choose not to drive a car DOES NOT make me any less of a man, despite what you may think. And it's patently obvious that IS what you think.

I could go on and on, but I think you get the point. If this unacceptable behavior doesn't change, I shall be forced to take drastic action.

Consider yourself warned,

Garth Johnson

P.S. If you would send me an autographed picture it would go a long way towards helping me forgive you.
